The Renaissance at Park South is now Symphony of Morgan Park

Chicago, IL – The Renaissance at Park South became Symphony of Morgan Park on March 3, 2016. This name change fulfills a strategic decision to continue to appropriately brand all Symphony Post Acute Network Member Facilities under the Symphony name.

Symphony Post Acute Network’s Member Facilities have operated long-term care and post-hospital rehabilitation facilities for nearly 40 years and are located in more than 30 communities across Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana and Arizona.

“2016 is going to be a very exciting year for Symphony Post Acute Network and its Member Facilities. We’re looking forward to continuing to build the Symphony brand in the communities we so proudly serve,” said Tim Fields, President of Operations for Symphony Post Acute Network. “Our patients, residents and families can rest assured that notwithstanding the name change – the same great care & service that they are accustomed to will remain,” he went on to say.
